

BY AUTHORITY.

Regulations of the Board of Health.

RELATING TO FISHING AND THE SALE OF FISH IN THE CITY OF HONOLULU.

SECTION 1.—The taking of scale fish or any product of the sea or water from any part, inlet or branch of the Honolulu harbor, or from any stream emptying into said harbor to and within one hundred feet beyond any point affected by the tides towards the land from said harbor and within a line running from the point at Iwilei near the Pork Packing Company's slaughter house to the office of the quarantine station, thence to the can buoy, and from the can buoy to and along the western wall of the coral enclosure for dredgings at Kakaako, is strictly prohibited.

SECTION 2.—The sale of fish and of all products of the sea is prohibited in the city of Honolulu, excepting at the new market building and such other places as are specially permitted where fish and the products of the sea may be exposed for sale under supervision of Inspectors appointed by the Board of Health.

SECTION 3.—Such Inspectors shall have power to seize, condemn and destroy any fish or product of the sea exposed for sale, or brought to the market, which they shall have reason to believe was taken from the locality prohibited by these regulations, or which shall appear to be unfit for food.

SECTION 4.—The Regulations of the Board of Health relating to the sale and taking of fish dated November 13, 1895, are hereby rescinded.

By order of the Board of Health.
J. T. WATERHOUSE,
President.

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE, HONOLULU, DEC. 9, 1895.

Under Article 35, Section 1 of the Constitution, it is required that each member of the Cabinet shall make an annual report of the transactions within his Department, during the year ending December 31st.

The Minister of Finance takes this occasion to request all those having claims against the Government of a monetary nature, to present them to this office, through the proper Departments, not later than 12 o'clock noon on TUESDAY, January 14th, 1896, after which date the books of this Department will be closed.

All persons having moneys on account of the Government are requested to make their returns promptly, in order that there may be no delay in closing the accounts for the year ending December 31st, 1895.

S. M. DAMON,
Minister of Finance.

FRIDAY - - - DEC. 13, 1895.

FAIR PLAY IS BONNIE.

By the latest mail was received Honolulu correspondence of the San Francisco Chronicle, which stated that the two alleged conspirators now under arrest were being shadowed and would likely soon be arrested. It was only while the steamer bringing back this information was approaching the harbor that the authorities proceeded to make the arrests. This is another instance of the Government's giving away confidential information to correspondents of foreign papers which they refuse to the local press. In this case, too, it is learned that partiality was shown to the correspondent in question, as against others who represent Coast papers here. Why this should be so ought to require an explanation. There is room for doubt as to the wisdom of giving such information at all in advance. In this case it might have defeated the ends of justice, for the mail might have given timely warning to the shadowed men, so as to enable them to give the authorities much unnecessary trouble, if not baffle them altogether, in effecting their capture. The correspondent in question nearly made a mess of the business through his possession of the information. Knowing that his story would be public property here whenever the mails came ashore he hurried, in that day's issue of the local paper he edits, to anticipate other journalists in giving news of the denouement. Therefore it was that his paper published an account of the arrest of the men before they were arrested, which gave one of them at least a chance to elude the police. Most experienced officials withhold advance information of the kind in question from newspaper men who have not proved that they will never abuse the confidence thus reposed in them.

SERIOUS MATTER.

There is a more serious question confronting the Government, with regard to the Henrietta's expedition, than that of overtaking the illicit trader or capturing her cargo of opium. A story comes from Victoria about the Henrietta's voyage, which includes a statement of belief there that the agent for the contraband stuff at this end is "a prominent customs official." As this story was sent to a San Francisco paper, from which we take it, it is reasonably free from the suspicion of having been designed particularly to injure anybody here. Upon the face of it, the reflection on a customs official appears to be only incidental to the narrative, but at the same time one of its most interesting portions. In justice not only to its own good name, but to the officials of the custom house, the Government should immediately institute a strict investigation of the statement in question. As nearly all of the custom house business of the islands is done at this port, there are a goodly number of officials who may fairly, at least in reportorial license, be denominated as "prominent." It is due to every honest man in this category that no effort should be spared to detect the guilty official, or to clear all the officials of the bureau if the accusation is false. In the extensive justification propaganda of the revolution of 1893 there was a great deal said about an opium ring, among several other disreputable things, having been abolished by that event. No evidence was ever produced to verify the assertions, but, whether they were true or false, the fact that they were scattered broadcast over the world makes it all the more imperative that no Government under the new regime should rest quietly under the imputation of harboring even unwittingly an opium smuggling combination. It behooves the Government, moreover, to ascertain whether any of its several expeditions, as yet futile, to catch opiumsmuggling craft were defeated through misdirection in any way by any of its officials. Talk of such treacherous dealing has, indeed, been heard in the community. The whole subject should be probed to the bottom.

OBSERVATIONS.

Details relating to the subsidies for new steamer lines to be opened to America, Australia, Europe, Vladivostok and the China coast were under discussion, at late accounts, between the Japanese Government and the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, the large corporation whose steamers have often brought loads of Japanese immigrants to Honolulu.

Following on the heels of intelligence that all was serene in Madagascar, after the capture of the capital by France, comes news of a serious anti-European riot at Arivonimamo. A mob of 2000 natives attacked the Friends Mission at that place and murdered the Rev. Mr. Johnston and his wife and child. The bodies of the murdered persons were horribly mutilated. Further attacks on foreigners and additional massacres are feared. The French troops will probably be able to restore order.

H. H. Holmes, the inhuman monster charged with a host of murders committed systematically in the United States and Canada, was refused a new trial at Philadelphia on November 30 for the murder of B. F. Pictzel in that city on September 21, 1894. Judge Arnold, upon rendering his decision refusing a new trial, forthwith sentenced the prisoner to be hanged. He was sentenced under the name of Herman W. Mudgetts. An appeal to the Supreme Court was to be taken at once, but the case appears to have been made out too clearly for an appeal to avail anything excepting for delay of execution.

The Independent has denied in language more forcible than elegant that a bell has ever been rung in its sanctum for the purpose of calling down the editor. It intimates also that the columns of the paper may contain anything necessary for or against the Hawaiian. We have no particular reason for doubting the statement. Now the burden of proof rests on the editor of the Time, or perhaps the Star. We have overlooked the latter paper because it has not for some time been considered a prominent paper. If its editor could only be induced to muffle the bell long enough to answer the imputation the public might learn just who Hayne referred to.

Advanced Education in Japan.

The Japanese Minister of Education, Marquis Saonji, has formulated his educational system for Japan, and it seems to meet the approval of all the higher classes. He proposes to bring up young men on broad and liberal lines. He insists that the study of the English language is of the greatest importance. He will do away with the study of old Japanese literature in the schools and make the study of English compulsory where it is now only optional.

"THE FREE AD" AND THE SUPERIORITY OF THE TRIBUNE WHEELS OVER THE STEARNS.

In our last advertisement in this column we called attention of the public to the Stearns wheels which are now being sold in this city. We stated without fear of contradiction that they were back numbers, manufactured in 1894 and shipped to the Pacific Coast as up to date wheels when they are not. We reiterate that assertion more forcibly in this ad. It has not been denied and cannot be, and we again caution buyers not to be deceived with antiquated machines which are represented as containing all the latest improvements.

An ad of the Stearns agency in an afternoon paper, praising the Tribune wheel and giving it a good send-off, refers to a letter written by H. F. Terrill, the well-known scorching, concerning the Tribune wheel. In spite of their assertion to the contrary, we deny that the agents of the Stearns wheel have seen or read the private letter of Harry F. Terrill to the Tribune rider here (meaning Tommy King) but as there is nothing secret about it we print the whole of it relating to bicycles below. If the Stearns agents can get any satisfaction out of it they are more than welcome. Mr. Terrill says: "I am riding a Stearn, 16 lbs. Say, Tom, the Tribune wheel has an awful good reputation through the East. I did not think much of it before I came East. It is considered one of the best mechanically constructed wheels in the world."

The balance of the letter refers to private matters but the Stearns agents may peruse the whole of it at any time. The explanation of Terrill's riding a Stearns wheel lies in the fact that he is under contract with the manufacturers to do so, consequently he cannot ride a Tribune although it is evident he would if he had the choice.

In our last advertisement we asked any intending purchaser to take one of the Stearns wheels to any first-class mechanic and have him take it apart and compare it with the corresponding features of the Tribune wheel. We knew that an honest opinion would be that the Tribune is by far the better wheel and hence made the challenge. We renew that challenge and intend to keep it before the public. It has not been accepted and it will not be.

We expect those Tribune Tandems on the Australia and if they arrive they will probably be seen in the New Year's races.

Don't purchase a bicycle of any kind without first examining the Tribune.
